Action Potential. The resting potential tells about what happens when a neuron is at rest. An action potential occurs when a neuron sends information down an axon, away from the cell body. Neuroscientists use other words, such as a "spike" or an "impulse" for the action potential.

Action Potential in the Neuron

Otherwise known as "The Brain Cap Lab." In this exercise students will map the human brain -- both anatomy and function -- so that they can develop a more accurate picture of what's going on inside their heads :-) Lights, Camera, Action Potential A great simulation of an action potential.

Nervous System - Mrs. Chamberlain Anatomy and Physiology

After a lot of action potentials have occurred, will enough peas/beans/ions move to change significantly the concentration gradients you set up initially when your model was at rest? Would the sodium and potassium ions continue to move as they did during the action potential you simulated in this activity? (2 points)
